PASSENGERS ON BLAZING SHIP ARE RESCUED

Only Few Members Of Crew Missing From Italian Liner

MARSEILLE, France, Jan. 22.—
Italian officials announced last night that all of the 412 passengers aboard the burned Italian motorship Orasio had been rescued, despite heavy seas and speed which helped it escape the flames yesterday off the south coast of France.

Local agents of the Italian line, owners of the vessel, said that only a few members of the crew of 231 still were missing after a new check-up of survivors taken aboard half a dozen rescue ships.

BARCELONA, Jan. 22.—Paul Van Zeland, former premier of Belgium, who had been reported as among the passengers of the burned Italian motorship Orasio, was located here today.

Van Zeland had planned to board
the vessel for South and Central America at Barcelona today, he said he probably would leave tonight for Lisbon and sail from there. He arrived here yesterday from France.

Harrowing Stories Told By Survivors

MARSEILLE, France, Jan. 22.—
First survivors of approximately 400 persons aboard the Italian liner Orasio reached here today with harrowing stories of a madman's explosion which wrecked the 11,600-ton ship in flames and destroyed all but two of her lifeboats.

The 47 survivors brought to safety
by a French auxiliary cruiser said most of the Orasio's passengers and crew threw themselves into the stormy Mediterranean, where they were picked up by lifeboats launched from three Italian merchant ships and two French warships standing by.

MORE SURVIVORS DUE

More survivors were due today about two French destroyers. Special hospitals were being ready to care for those who suffered burns and explosions.

Refugees from the abandoned
South American-bound liner said the explosion occurred about 5 a.m.
yesterday in her engine room while she was fighting her way through tempest 60 miles off Barcelona.

LIFEBOATS LAUNCHED

While two French warships, the 23,300-ton Italian liner Costa Biancamano, the 11,600-ton Italian liner Colombo and the 8,400-ton Italian freighter Renu put out their boats
the two remaining Orasio lifeboats were launched.

All survivors in Genoa said the origin of the fire was not known, but that it apparently broke out yesterday morning while the Orasio was under way.

They said the Costa Biancamano had been the Orasio's Italian escort, according to their latest information, she still was afloat.

PRICE INCREASE FOR CIGARETTES IS PREDICTED

TORONTO, Jan. 22.—Increase in the price of cigarettes is expected by tobacco dealers, the Toronto Evening Telegram said today. Dealers expect an increase in the excise tax on cigarettes to be introduced in the next federal budget.

"The expectation is that cigarettes will be sold at between 10 and 15 cents, the prices which prevailed during the last war," the paper said. "Present large packets may cost 35 cents."

The paper said an increase in the excise tax from 40 to 45 per cent, should be made about three months ago and brought about a reduction in the number of cigarettes in each package.

3 SMALL BOYS FLEE FIRE AS HOME IS RAZED

Bush Country Family Loses Home—Two-Year-Old Baby Frozen

Relative to Edmonton Bulletin.
RIMBEY, Jan. 22.—While their mother, Mrs. William Minks, was away on an errand to a neighbor's, a fire started in the home of the Minks family, a little distance from Rimbey, and three children, six, three and two years of age, narrowly escaped death when their two-story frame home, 35 miles southwest of Rimbey, in the small town of Rimbey, was razed by fire that started when the children attempted to light a coal oil lamp last week.

Flames from the lamp caught a nearby window curtain and in seconds the place was afire. Harry, the six-year-old, ran to the kitchen of the floor below and made two trips with a pail of water but, finding his inability to subdue the flames he hurried the two younger brothers, Edward and Jackie out of the house.

Only in their indoor clothing the three started for the home of Mr. and Mrs. Allan Roberts, a half-mile away but soon baby Jackie could walk. The older boys took turns trying to carry him and failing that attempted to drag him along the snow.

BAN FOR HELP

This task was impossible so Harry and Ed left the baby and hurried on for help. Mr. Roberts rushed to the baby's rescue and also sent word to the mother who was at her sister-in-law's. First aid was given the baby who was found suffering from cold and exposure and with hands frost-bitten.

The following day Mrs. Minks and the baby were brought into Rimbey by David Adams, who owns a saw mill in that neighborhood. In his truck and the child was placed in the Rimbey hospital where the child was kept today.

Dr. S. P. Carr, unless compresses applied to the frost-bitten hands, it is feared that at least one of the fingers may have to be amputated. The left hand was the most severely affected.

SETTLEMENT PLAN

"The Minks family moved into their present home about a week ago on the $600 settlement plan and during most of the time the father, who is a farmer, was working on the Black Diamond, while the family lived near Rimbey."

Although details are meagre, it is thought that the children had stuffed paper either in the chimney of the lamp or into the lamp's chimney. The chimney had been absent about a short time when the accident occurred.

All of their effects were burned and the family is staying at the home of Mrs. Mrs. Kennedy.

Ration Gasoline

CANADA YOUTH TRAINING PLAN MEETING TOPIC

Dr. F. J. McNally, Edmonton, is Named Chairman of Conference
OTTAWA, Jan. 22.—Character of the instruction given under the Dominion-Privatized Youth Training program has been changed to conform to demand for skilled workers in certain trades associated with the national war effort, it was announced today.

Overhauling of the program, said today at the opening of a three-day conference of Dominion and provincial youth training officials.

One of the duties of the conference, he said, would be to decide on a plan of action to meet the needs of the war effort. It was not desirable to provide a surplus of labor in any one of the trades, but to have a balance of the country's needs and train workers to fill any deficiency of skilled labor that became apparent.

A survey of the youth training plan by the Dominion government showed 25,299 young people in training up to Nov. 30 of the current year, compared with 22,421 last year and 12,000 in 1937-38, the first year of the program.

CONFERENCE DECISIONS
The conference elected Dr. G. F. McNally, deputy minister of education for Alberta, as chairman. He expressed the view that youth training today was more important than ever before.

Mr. Thompson remarked upon the "extraordinary fine spirit of cooperation" shown by all associated with the program throughout Canada.

Fatal Riots

CANADA IN WAR TO KEEP FIGHT ACROSS OCEAN

Canadian Society of New York Hears Of Decision

NEW YORK, Jan. 22.—Canada entered the war, Great Britain, according to the Ottawa Journal, said Saturday night, because "we in Canada think it is wise to fight aggression and the Rhine than to have to fight in the St. Lawrence—or the Mississippi."

Speaking before the annual dinner meeting of the Canadian Society of New York, Mr. O'Leary, Canada's ambassador, said through "her own free choice" expressed by a free parliament which would have declared Canada neutral had it so desired. "Canada was the war, he said, but he believed her institutions and way of life were menaced and was convinced that when it came to liberty to fight aggression and the Rhine than to have to fight in the St. Lawrence—or the Mississippi."

Major-General John F. O'Brien, commander of the United States 27th division during the World War, in a speech on what he believed to be the United States' obligations to the present war, said the United States must prepare to help defeat Germany by any means or face the possibility of fighting Germany alone later.

Mr. O'Brien's "policy of aggression," said a victorious "German" peace terms would make the Versailles treaty "like a friendly greeting" and would there be no compromise with Hitlerism.

To the cheers of the 300 former Canadian present, the president, Hector Q. Jackson, formerly of Fort Qu'Appelle, Sask., said he expected to make calls on members of the society within the bounds you are permitted to serve and I am confident your hearts will be in the right place."

BALBOA, Canal Zone, Jan. 22.—Hans Von Appen, German business man who claimed he had appendicitis and was removed from the captured Nazi freighter Duesendoff, as she was passing through the Panama canal last Christmas, was found to be a fake invalid. He was taken to the Canadian destroyer Asimabito in Cristobal Saturday night and will be interned in Jamaica or Bermuda.

Von Appen had been in quarantine at Balboa since leaving Duesendoff. The state department in Washington refused his application for permanent residence in the canal zone and turned him over to the local authorities.

Hospital examination revealed him to be in good health.

OTTAWA, Jan. 22.—More than 200 charitable organizations composed of many thousands of Canadian citizens in every category, have been given authority under the War Charities Act to raise money for charities connected with the war, the public information bureau said last night.

Only a few of the 200 groups to which fund raising permission has been granted, have made known their monetary objectives but the total of these few exceeds $100,000.

In addition according to W. Gordon Gurney war charities administrator, in meeting special requests, his staff sent out more than 6,000 application forms to organizations that have indicated a desire to raise money.

Fur And Warner

OTTAWA, Jan. 22.—The war is not going to interfere with education, the Canadian Association for Adult Education, which is holding a conference in Ottawa, said today.

That they may attain to higher ranks in the army than their present scholastic ratings permit and be better equipped to render civil life when the war is over.

This program, the public information bureau made known last night, is largely the contribution of the old soldiers of Canada to the new.

HAS STRONG SUPPORT

It has the financial as well as moral support of the Canadian Legion through a special organization known as War Services Incorporated. Into the effort also is being thrown the full weight of the Canadian Association for Adult Education, which is holding a conference in Ottawa, said today.

With all the aid of the national defence department and the general staff.

The educational scheme stresses the practical rather than the theoretical side of learning. It includes courses in mathematics and geography for groundmen in the air force who, because of limited knowledge of these subjects, have no chance to become pilots.

Facilities will be available for the military men and women to learn map reading and mathematics. Men of mechanical units may learn the use of the compass and study conventional French, German and Italian and Scandinavian.

OPEN TO GOOD STAFF

Radio, motion pictures, phonographs and travelling libraries all will be used and series of live lectures and instruction in equipment at points close to where the men will be stationed are being sought. Already an excellent start has been made in Canada with classes wherever troops are concentrated.

Robert England, of Winnipeg, will supervise the program in England and France, holding non-military rank. He will be known as the director of educational services, C.A.S.F.

Mr. England was associated during the last war with the Royal Canadian Mounted Police, who organized the famed Kiwi unit, and now heads the technical section of the Volunteer Service Registration Bureau. For some time Mr. England was in charge of the extension services of the University of British Columbia.

I cannot help but think the statements of Premier Hargrave of Ontario and Col. Drew are most disturbing. If they are true what must we do about it? asked the premier.

Britain Keeping Watch For Nazi Parachute Spies

LONDON, Jan. 22.—Working on the theory that you can't be too careful in war, Britain's coastal defences are keeping a close watch for Nazi parachute spies.

Despite the fact enemy planes cannot even approach the coast without being engaged, certain sections of the British press believe it possible the enemy may attempt to land spies and saboteurs under cover of darkness on the lonely moorland wastes of Yorkshire, Northumberland, Scotland.

The Royal Air Force coast command and anti-aircraft posts have received orders to keep their eyes peeled.

Policeman Kills Two: Then Is Shot In Sergeant's Home

CHILMARK, Mass., Jan. 22.—A policeman resorted to bullets Saturday to settle a quarrel with his sergeant—when the shooting ended, three persons were dead, the sergeant's wife, his 12-year-old daughter, and the policeman.

Observed with the belief his superior officer was "persecuting" him, Patrolman John Price, 44, fired his way into the home of Sgt. Herbert Harbison, 43, fired three bullets at Mrs. Harbison, 35, first another at Young Virginia Harbison, 12, then was killed by the sergeant.

THE government of King Carol I was learned from excellent sources, opened its campaign in this direction at a meeting on the frontier Friday between Foreign Minister Grigore Gafencu and the Yugoslav foreign minister, Alexander Cincar-Markovic, and put its case before the meeting of the Balkan states Feb. 2.

The Balkan states, composed of Rumania, Yugoslavia, Greece and Turkey, was formed after the first Great War to oppose any central European attack to regain lost territories.

Turkey already is allied with Britain and France, and Rumania has received guarantees of her independence from the two western European allies.

Rumania's main argument, qualified sources said, is that if other members of the estate allied with her, Rumania, he partitioned it will be long before the Balkan states can face the German Gauleis' heaviest pressure, it was said, will be exerted on Yugoslavia, whose assistance is vital to Rumania.

One reason why Rumania wants support of the Balkan states so urgently is her fear that in case of attack the might be isolated from British and French aid, as was Poland.

Canadians Thanked For Fine Response To First War Loan

OTTAWA, Jan. 22.—Hon. J. L. Ralston, finance minister, joined by representatives of allied governments and the nine provinces of the Dominion, last night thanked the people of Canada for their efforts that made the first loan of the second Great War such an overwhelming success.

"You Canadians—this is the best thing you have done since the war," said Col. Ralston. "The federal finance minister spoke from Ottawa on a national network of the Canadian Broadcasting Corporation. Also speaking from here were Sir Gerald Campbell, British high commissioner to Canada; Count Robert de Dampierre, French minister; and Victor Podolski, Polish consul general."

PROVINCIAL SPANERS
Representing the provinces and speaking from points scattered across the Dominion, were Premier Thane Campbell, Prince Edward Island; Premier A. L. Macdonald, Nova Scotia; J. J. Hayes-Dunn, provincial treasurer of New Brunswick; A. J. Matheson, provincial treasurer of Quebec; Premier H. B. Brown, Ontario; S. S. Garson, provincial treasurer of Manitoba; Premier Patterson, Saskatchewan; Solon Low, provincial treasurer of Alberta; and Premier Pettillo, of British Columbia.

"Naturally, I am very happy tonight," said Col. Ralston, "and one week ago I asked my fellow Canadians to make the success of Canada's first war loan of $200,000,000 overwhelmingly decisive."

On Tuesday, the second day after the books were opened, the amount of cash subscriptions was $238,000,000, an overwhelming success in two days of $40,000,000.

"That smashing response from Canada rang around the world," the finance minister recounted how the books were kept open to the smaller investor might have a chance to take a tangible stake in the war. When applications were totaled it was found that subscriptions amounted to $238,000,000. "And besides that, a total of 1,000,000 subscriptions of $53,300,000, making a grand total of $311,300,000."

THIS GRAPHIC STORY
"These figures tell a more graphic story than I could," said Col. Ralston. "Canadians can take unbounded satisfaction in the magnificent demonstration that the Dominion is resolved to see this war through."

The finance minister said he wished to thank every person who had helped in the success of the loan but those who had a part in the organization would be the first to admit that all planning and organization would have been futile if the people of Canada had not been ready and eager with their support.

"You wanted to get into this war," he told his listeners. "You wanted to do your part. The success is yours."

Many many small subscribers responded to the call for support of the loan, Mr. Ralston said, that the final total had not yet been computed. However, officials are confident that probably more than half of the amount of the loan allotted for cash will be in the hands of persons who subscribed for sums of from $50 to $5,000.

MUST INTENSIFY EFFORT
Some small subscriptions had been refused "to there isn't any doubt the rank and file of our citizens are really anxious to play their part on the economic front as well as elsewhere."

He warned, however, about be-

Experiment

Just for "experimental purposes" was the Michigan's Representative John D. Dingell put it in introducing Congressional bill authorizing the sale of 10,000 new U. S. Grand semi-automatic rifles to the Finnish government at $1 each. Above, Dingell and rifle.

"Victor Podolski termed the Canadian loan effort 'unprecedented.'"

"Hitler's idea of a lightning war has found an admirable application in this case," said Col. Ralston. "The people of Canada have acted, of their own free will, in offering this great cause: First what they love (fighting men), and now what they own."

Hon. Stuart Garson thanked Manitoba workers and subscribers after referring to the Greek myth of Cadmus, King of Crete, who was slain by a dragon and his head was buried in the earth. The survivors of which helped to build his city.

"Nowadays we cannot, like King Cadmus of the legend, sow dragon teeth and immediately reap armies," said Mr. Garson. "But in the financial field we have just finished almost as rapid and as successful a campaign."

Small Investors Get Recognition
OTTAWA, Jan. 22.—The government, the finance minister, Hon. J. L. Ralston, said last night, will institute a program whereby Canada's small investors, at any time, can put their savings into some sort of war loan security of a suitable small denomination.

The overwhelming response of small investors to the recent $200,000,000 war loan which was heavily oversubscribed, showed the need of such a program.

"It may be along the lines of war savings certificates used in the last war but the details will take a little time to work out and whatever form the plan takes it will be announced just as early as possible," Col. Ralston said in a national broadcast.

People Of Alberta

Subscribe Full Share
Solon Low, Alberta provincial treasurer, last night stated that the magnificent response of the Canadian people in Canada's first war loan of $200,000,000 "should leave no doubt in the minds of our enemies as to the unity of our people."

FOUR BRITISH, THREE NEUTRAL VESSELS SUNK

Eight Killed, 73 Missing As British Destroyer Victim of Enemy Action

LONDON, Jan. 22.—Four British ships, one of them a destroyer, were sunk in a wave of week-end shipping losses. Three neutral vessels also added to the heavy toll of men and ships, especially in icy waters around the British Isles, which some sources blamed on an increase in German mines.

Sinking of the destroyer Grenville, 1,485-ton Flotilla leader, "by a mine or torpedo" was announced by the Admiralty yesterday. She was the fourth British destroyer sunk in nearly five months of war. Britain's 21st loss of her fleet. When she sank was not disclosed.

118 ARE SAVED
The Admiralty said 118 officers and men were saved, but "eight are known to have been killed and 73 are missing and must be presumed to have lost their lives." It listed the commander, Captain G. E. Cragg, among the 118 dead. Among survivors landed at the east coast port were some severely wounded.

British saw the week-end losses as warning of Saturday that "many losses and misfortunes" still lie ahead in the war at sea, even though the Allied successes have been so great. The First Lord of the Admiralty in an Empire broadcast said "ships are not going to be badly after all. Indeed, they have never gone so well in any naval war."

He said the chances were 500 to one against any ship in a British convoy being sunk; that half the U-boats with which Germany began the war have been destroyed and "their new building has fallen far behind what we expected; and that mines 'do not present us with any problem which we deem insoluble.'"

British own sea offensive, particularly her far-flung patrol to blockade Germany, brought diplomatic repercussions.

U. S. WATCHING
United States officials in Washington intimated they are watching anxiously the apparent withdrawal of American farmers' export markets as a result of British shipping restrictions. Possibly also in Tokyo that Japan might make a formal protest against the closure of the Japanese liner Asama Maru by a British warship.

Besides the Grenville, grief to these eight other ships became known yesterday. It recorded those who came to pledge their bit, from the plainly distressed farmer who vainly and without ostentation wrote his cheque for $50,000, to the Russian lad who applied for bonds to the value of $700.

NEW CANADIANS LOYAL
Our new Canadians demonstrated during the past week that their loyalty and patriotism were of a high standard and that whatever their original home might have been, they are ready and anxious to do what they can to assist Canada in her war effort.

The success of the drive in Alberta was due largely to the temper of the people and to the splendid efficiency of the subscription committee who purposely spread their organization even into the remote sections of this vast province. The effort of every individual might have a chance to subscribe. People of Canada, I congratulate you.

opposite, though similar, barbarisms of Nazism and Bolshevism."

For themselves, Mr. Churchill said the Allies were not concerned over the eventual outcome. "Numbers do not daunt us," he said, "but judged even by the test of numbers, we have no reason to doubt that once the latent and rapid growth power of our great nation and empire are brought, as they must be, fully into line with the magnificent efforts of the French republic, then even in mass and speed, we shall not be found wanting."

CAN POLICE REAS
Mr. Churchill declared Britain is "now confident day by day of our ability to police the seas and oceans and to keep open and alive the waterways by which we live and along which we shall draw the means of victory."

"It seems pretty certain tonight," he said, "that half the U-boats with which Germany began the war have been sunk and that their new production has fallen far behind what we expected."

Bluntly he told Europe's small neutral states that "only with the British and French convoys is safety to be found," and declared: "Neutral ships are being sunk without mercy."

"The Dutch, the Belgians, the Danes, the Swedes and above all the Norwegians have their ships destroyed whenever they can be caught upon the high seas," he said. With the British convoys, on the other hand, Mr. Churchill said, "there is a 500 to one chance against loss."

HALIFAX GIVEN INSIST
Mr. Churchill's broadcast came after an address at London by Lord Halifax in which the secretary for foreign affairs said the issues at stake in the war were "liberty and the independence of our own coun-

Canadian Aircraft Factories Speeding Production

While the Royal Air Force continues to prove its superiority in battle against the air force of roland Herman Goering, Canadian aircraft factories are working at top speed to produce the many fighters needed for the many of fighters to be trained in Canada under the empire air training scheme. These scenes, taken at one of the Delvillair aircraft manufacturing company's plants, are typical of scenes in a score of other aircraft factories across the Dominion. These men and women are busily engaged in turning out Tiger Moths for training purposes. In the near future new ship will be out of this factory every day.

Tanks, Sewing Machines Alike Fail to Stop Finns

The British steamship Proteus, 837 tons, sank yesterday after striking a mine off the west coast of England. A rescue vessel brought her crew of 50 safely ashore.

The 1,000-ton British steamship Forthbank sank yesterday after striking a mine off the northeast coast. Two survivors were landed, but 12 of her crew were believed lost.

The sinking of the 1,050-ton Estonian steamship Mestis Saturday off the Shetland Islands was confirmed. Her crew was rescued.

KEPTED LOST
The 1,170-ton Swedish steamship Flindia went down after striking two mines, and 17 of her crew were reported lost. Four survivors, picked up after spending two days in an open boat, said the Flindia sank Thursday.

The 1,469-ton Danish steamship Tecla was reported to have sunk after striking a mine yesterday off the northeast coast of Scotland.

The 4,842-ton British freighter Kirkcubbin was reported to have run aground on the southwest coast Friday night. Her crew was saved.

WRECK IN COLLISION
A collision damaged the British liner Flindia Castle, and she turned back from a voyage to South Africa. The crew of the Norwegian merchantman Notoke took to lifeboats Saturday when a submarine attacked. But when a torpedo struck the Notoke but a loud explosion and dense smoke suddenly came from the submarine, which disappeared and was not seen again. The crew returned to their ship and told their story in a northern port yesterday.

WINTER TOUGH ON U-BOATS
Among miscellaneous items in this heap of Finnish booty were hand instruments and fiddles, captured from defeated Soviet troops on the northern front where the weather was cold for both sides.

TRY AND COMMUNALISM, AND OF ALL EUROPEAN STATES
The only reason "why peace cannot be made tomorrow is that the German government have not yet given any evidence of their readiness to repair the damage wrought upon 'small nations' or at their capacity to convince the world that 'any pledge is worth more than the paper on which it may be written,' Lord Halifax said."

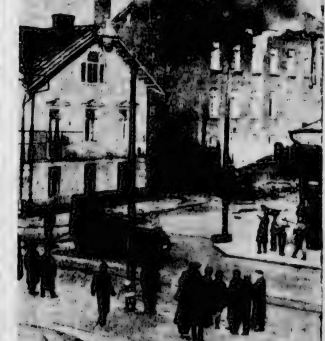

Both the first lord and the foreign secretary had words of high praise for Finland. Lord Halifax declared that Britain's promise to help the northern country "will not remain an idle promise, a mere academic formality."

He could not tell what the fate of Finland will be, said Mr. Churchill, but "nothing could be worse for Finland than to have this splendid people beaten down by the brutal forces attacking her."

It is easier to freeze a needle if the end of the thread is cut on a dial.

Red Bombs Wreck Children's Hospital

Finns have captured the Red army's new machine, seized in a truckload of useless war material when supply column was ambushed.

Precisely on the part of Red army authorities saved many children's lives in the inferno that followed a direct hit made by a Russian incendiary bomb on the children's hospital in the Finnish capital, seen blinding in this exclusive photograph. Like most here vulnerable targets the hospital had been evacuated, and destruction of the building — the only one that suffered in the raid — was all that resulted.

Winter Tough on U-Boats

Not the most pleasant job under any circumstances, work aboard submarines means little more at this time of year holds extra hardships for crews of the underwater craft. This is a German submarine, pictured at its base at Kiel, after returning from a cruise in the Baltic. Once the crew members return to stem. The ice forms when the submarine comes to the surface and makes navigation and effective torpedo or gunfire, should they be necessary, next to impossible.
